School Report’s subbing quiz

1. The one-vehicle collision took place on the A9 Inverness-Perth road near Tomatin, at about 17:20 on Saturday.

2. Among passengers affected was Britain's Got Talent finalists, electronic string quartet Escala.

3. The crew waited with the rota blades still turning for their ice creams to arrive.

4. His destination was Uyanga, a mining town on the Mongolian Steppe, a rolling grassland that stretches hundreds of thousands of miles in a large crescent around the Gobi Desert.

5. Irish comedian Dylan Moran has become the first British stand-up comedian ever to perform in Russia, organisers of the gig have claimed.

6. Westwood abandoned the car at a block of flats in Pickering Road, Wednesfield, where police dogs tracked him and Simpson into some flats and arrested them.

7. A group of men in white tea shirts, carrying assault rifles, is standing just outside the village.

8. Jonathan Doran, principle analyst at research firm Ovum, is surprised by the turnaround in fortunes.

9. Around 50 officers are involved in the murder enquiry including detective officers, uninformed officers and scenes of crime teams.

10. The royal barge built for the Queen's Diamond Jubilee will be lowered on to the Thames on Thursday. The Gloriana which cost around £500million will lead the Jubilee river pageant in June.
School Report's subbing quiz – the answers!

1. The one-vehicle collision (collisions involve two or more moving objects) took place on the A9 Inverness-Perth road near Tomatin, at about 17:20 on Saturday.

2. Among passengers affected was Britain's Got Talent finalists (if the subject is plural, we use "were" not "was"), electronic string quartet Escala.

3. The crew waited with the rota (should be rotor – this is a homophone, where two different words sound the same) blades still turning for their ice creams to arrive.

4. His destination was Uyanga, a mining town on the Mongolian Steppe, a rolling grassland that stretches hundreds of thousands of miles (always ask yourself if figures make sense. The Earth is 25,000 miles round, so this can’t be right) in a large crescent around the Gobi Desert.

5. Irish comedian Dylan Moran has become the first British (if he’s Irish, he can’t be British! While Northern Ireland is part of the UK, the Republic of Ireland is a separate country) stand-up comedian ever to perform in Russia, organisers of the gig have claimed.

6. Westwood abandoned the car at a block of flats in Pickering Road, Wednesfield, where police dogs tracked him and Simpson into some flats and arrested them. (This is why you should read your sentences through afterwards – these police dogs must be very well trained if they can arrest people!)

7. A group of men in white tea shirts (should be T-shirts) carrying assault rifles, is standing just outside the village.

8. Jonathan Doran, principle (principal is the word here – another homophone) analyst at research firm Ovum, is surprised by the turnaround in fortunes.

9. Around 50 officers are involved in the murder enquiry including detective officers, uninformed (it’s a nice thought, but we mean uniformed – this is one a spell-check won’t pick up so read closely) officers and scenes of crime teams.

10. The royal barge built for the Queen's Diamond Jubilee will be lowered on to the Thames on Thursday. The Gloriana which cost around £500 million (another example of asking if it’s likely to be true. What could you get for £500m? In fact, it should be £500,000) will lead the Jubilee river pageant in June.